Guidelines for Selecting Delta Lyme Nominees

Guidelines for selecting Delta Lyme nominees are:

1. Nominees must live in the lower Delta region.
2. Nominees must have significantly impacted the region.
3. Nominations must be at least 21 years of age.
4. Nominations must be made through existing resources and/or networks.
5. Nominees should be recognized and acknowledged by the community.
6. The Delta region is defined as the coastal area west of the San Francisco Bay.

The purpose of Delta Lyme is to recognize those individuals who have made significant contributions to the region.

Guidelines in Selecting Honorees for Delta Lyme

The Delta region is a unique and special place. It is a place where the natural and cultural landscapes merge to create a unique sense of place. This region is home to some of the most picturesque and scenic places in California, including the Delta, San Francisco Bay, and the Lower East Bay.

The Delta region is home to a diverse community of people who are committed to preserving and protecting this unique environment. The Delta region is also home to a variety of important industries, including agriculture, fishing, and tourism.

The Delta region is also home to many important organizations, including the Delta Conservation Trust, the Delta Waterfowl Trust, and the Delta Regional Authority.

The Delta region is an important part of California's history and culture. It has played a significant role in the state's development, and it continues to be an important part of the state's economy and culture.

The Delta region is a place where people come together to celebrate their shared values and work towards a common goal. It is a place where people can come together to create a better future for all.

In conclusion, the Delta region is a special place. It is a place where people come together to create a better future for all. The Delta region is an important part of California's history and culture, and it continues to be an important part of the state's economy and culture.

The Delta region is a place where people can come together to create a better future for all.